Foreword

The sixth edition of the Directory of NGOs with Education Programme, coordinated by Campaign for Popular Education (CAMPE), has provided substantial evidence of development in the basic education sub-sector in Bangladesh towards achieving Education 2030. It has covered information on education programs of 936 NGOs ranging from basic data, details of education programme coverage, focuses on inclusive education for disadvantaged groups, human and financial capacity, and linkage with other development interventions.

Government of Bangladesh has continuously been emphasising human capability enhancement in a lifelong leaning continuum. A number of initiatives have been taken by the state to ensure universal enrolment in primary education, adult literacy along with post-literacy and continuing education, and skills development over past decades. Besides, non-state actors, NGOs in particular, have been complementing state efforts through service delivery, research and advocacy. A favourable policy environment has encouraged NGOs to work effectively in excluded areas for ensuring right to education which has contributed to visible progress towards achieving the Millennium Development Goals (MDG) and the Education for All (EFA) agenda adopted in 2000. CAMPE, as a national coalition, has been engaged in tracking NGO interventions in achieving national and global goals and targets particularly keeping in view the Education 2030 and influencing pro-poor policy decisions.

A recent survey conducted by CAMPE shows that about one thousand NGOs have been operating varied types of education programmes in Bangladesh. Previously, CAMPE published the results of a similar kind of survey in the form of a Directory in 1993 which was updated in 1994, 1995, 2004, 2006 and 2009. Due to increasing demand from CAMPE's stakeholders as well as to fulfil one of its core mandate as a networking organisation, CAMPE has taken the initiative to update relevant information with a focus on the changes in context, capacity and emerging needs of the stakeholders.

The Directory of NGOs with Education Programme is a response to the emerging needs and a systematic attempt for compilation and dissemination of relevant information. In this Directory, we have included information of 936 NGOs relating to education programmes. The database has been updated on the basis of information collected from the concerned organisations through field based in-depth investigation.

The Research, Monitoring, Evaluation and Documentation (RMED) unit of CAMPE coordinated the whole process under the guidance of an Advisory Committee consisting Board Members and experts. A total of 33 data enumerators were commissioned for collecting data from the grassroots level. An online database was developed and used for data management.

Among the respondents, randomly selected 5% was validated through field visits by CAMPE staff and more than 80% participated in the sub-national level data validation workshops which helped in ensuring both credibility and reliability of the information. We realise that this is not an exhaustive list and a few may have been missed out despite our best efforts to collect information from all concerned. Moreover, despite our best efforts, some inadvertent errors may have crept into the directory and our apologies for that. We welcome all pragmatic suggestions and hope to incorporate those in the next edition.

Our sincere appreciation to the Advisory Committee who contributed their valuable time and expertise to enrich the directory and make it a worthwhile effort. We would like to extend special thanks to Prof. Dr. Kazi Saleh Ahmed for his untiring efforts and continued guidance, without which it would have been difficult for us to come up with this latest version of the directory.

Our special thanks to the European Union (EU) for their generous support in publishing the directory. Heads of all the NGOs and their concerned colleagues who were kind enough to provide us with relevant information deserve our heartfelt appreciation. We gratefully acknowledge the gracious support and guidance provided by CAMPE Council (Board) members in accomplishing this task.

We will feel satisfied if this Directory serves its purpose and becomes a worthwhile exercise.

Campaign for Popular Education (CAMPE) is a national coalition of NGOs working in the basic education sub-sector of Bangladesh since 1990. It is an output of collaborative effort of the civil society actors just after the first World Education Forum held in Jomtien. CAMPE is involved in evidence based advocacy at different levels and lobbying for sustainable and pro-poor policy framework that contribute in achieving national and global development goals related to education and lifelong learning. It emphasis on alignment of national visions and strategies with international commitments e.g. Education 2030 and Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) among others. It works for influencing policies and practice change discourse through evidence based advocacy, capacity building and awareness raising contributing toward achieving nationals goals that include Vision 2021, Five-year Plans, Poverty Reduction Strategies, National Education Policy, Skill Development Policy, Child Policy, Women Development Policy among others for human capability enhancement. CAMPE follows key strategies like NIDI (Networking, Informing, Developing and Influencing) in performing its role focused on Right to Education. As part of its mandate it maintains a database of NGOs involved in education programmes in Bangladesh which provides an overview of education services of NGOs. This output will be the sixth initiative under this series.

Background and historical perspectives

CAMPE started its journey immediate after the Jomtien conference. It visualises an educated, creative, democratic, secular, humanitarian, equitable and poverty free Bangladesh promoted through education, national and global citizenship, and life-long learning for all. CAMPE which started its journey with only 15 member organizations and individuals have in the last twenty five years grown to a credible membership of about 1,000 NGOs, researchers, educators and other Civil Society organizations and individuals sharing similar vision. The journey of CAMPE started immediate after the World Conference on Education for All, assembled in Jomtien, Thailand, from 5 to 9 March 1990 that committed for expanded vision which encompasses, (i) universalizing access and promoting equity; (ii) focusing on learning; (iii) broadening the means and scope of basic education; (iv) enhancing the environment for learning; and (v) strengthening partnerships.

CAMPE's programme interventions primarily focus on policy advocacy, networking, campaign, research, documentation and capacity building of its members and partner organizations. CAMPE is committed to facilitate the process for sustainable and pro-poor policy frameworks which will in turn enable the achievement of Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) focused on Education 2030. CAMPE works closely with policy makers, development partners and different national, regional and global forums.

CAMPE believes that in order to achieve the sustainable development goals, particularly the Goal 4 i.e. inclusive and equitable quality education and lifelong learning for all which is also known as Education 2030. It is crucial to have cooperation and collaboration among different stakeholders, particularly the government, development partners and Civil Society like NGOs, learners, teachers, teachers associations, researchers thinks tanks, community, and other relevant dynamic and democratic institutions. CAMPE intended to continue its effort for effective diagonal engagement of Civil Society in pro-poor policy and practice change discourse nationally, regionally and globally through engaging diverse stakeholders and using existing and potential windows and platforms.

Objective of CAMPE

The major objective of CAMPE is to provide a platform for Civil Society to engage with pro-poor policy formulation and perform watchdog role in implementation of basic education service in a right based approach. The specific objectives included the followings:

- Strengthen capacity of partner NGOs through providing technical assistance and other support services among others.

Legal status

Although CAMPE was formed in 1990, it became a legal entity in 1991 and registered under the Societies Act of 1860. It is also registered with the NGO Affairs Bureau since 1992, which is renewed time to time.

Networking

Since its inception, CAMPE has been trying to coordinate implementation of programme interventions with the Government and other progressive institutions in order to facilitate participation of people in basic education, literacy and non-formal education movements. The coordination and networking role of CAMPE is recognized by concerned agencies of the Government of Bangladesh (e.g. NGOAB, MoPME, MoE, MoEF, MoWCA, NSDC, DPE, BTEB, NCTB among others). It represent the civil society through participation in the consultative process in a number of forums/committees/task forces national technical committee groups formed by GoB. Currently civil society is represented by CAMPE in at least 32 such committees, working group and technical teams.

It also works in close collaboration with different national and international forums and platforms including the Federation of NGOs in Bangladesh (FNB), Coordinating Council for Human Rights in Bangladesh (CCHRB), Asia South Pacific Association for Basic and Adult Education (ASPBAE), International Council of Adult Education (ICAE) and Global Call to Action against Poverty (GCAP) and Global Campaign for Education (GCE), UNESCOs CCNGO/EFA among others. It is recognized by UNESCO as a nodal institution for basic education in Bangladesh.

Governance and Management

The General Body is the highest decision making body of CAMPE. It is represented by 231 voting member organisations. The network represents about 1,000 NGOs, teachers associations, and academia and researchers. The overall management of CAMPE is overseen by a Council of 21 members representing 18 national and international NGOs and 3 individuals. The role of the Council is to provide CAMPE with strategic guidelines and approve all policy and operational plans. CAMPE has a Secretariat, headed by the Executive Director who is also the Member Secretary of the CAMPE Council. The Executive Director is responsible for the overall management who is assisted by a Management Team for this purpose.

Major Milestones

CAMPE is a growing organisation that evolved from a network of 15 NGOs to a broad-based national coalition for education and an advocacy organisation in the last 2.5 decades. Networking and coalition building, stocktaking of policy environment and identifying issues around primary education and adult literacy were the key priorities in the initial phase CAMPE. Over the years, CAMPE passed through a learning process and emphasise on diverse issues including, out of school factors, mainstreaming primary education, non-formal and second chance education, post-literacy and continuing education, quality education, and financing education among others. CAMPEs initiatives were always focused on creating an enabling policy environment for the most disadvantaged due to sex, ethnicity, disability, geographical and other man-made pockets of exclusion among others. However, there were specific focus in each of the phase which was supported by constituency member, advocacy allies and development partners.

How to use the Directory

The one page profile of each NGO has been designed to give an overview of the programmes implemented by the organisation. Each page consists of two parts. The first part provides an organisational profile, such as name, address, year of establishment, legal status, name of chief executive, name of education programme head, and budget. The second part provides information of its education programme:

- source of funding, current budget, area coverage and geographical locations;
- ongoing education programmes;
- ongoing technical and skills development programmes;
- number of staff involved in education and other programmes;
- learners from specials groups;
- training facilities and kind of trainings offered by the organisation;

- analyze data and provide some trends of development as a result of NGO interventions and insights related to the basic education sub-sector focused on right to education, marginalization, and second chance education;
- share basic information of NGOs on coverage of the education programme, financial and human resource, and other relevant information;
- facilitate access to information of NGO run education programmers and follow-up interventions.

Rationale

The database, as expected by its varied users, needs to be updated regularly in order to keep pace with the evolving and dynamic needs of stakeholders. In Bangladesh, there are many government agencies that collect, compile and analyze statistical data on primary and basic education. The three main agencies are (i) Bangladesh Bureau of Statistics (BBS); (ii) Directorate of Educational Information and Statistics (formerly known as BANBEIS); and (iii) Directorate of Primary Education (DPE).

However, these agencies often collect data from the formal education institutions that directly governed by the concerned government agencies or utilized resources from the government sources. These often exclude information related to non-formal education institutions and other civil society initiatives. In addition, in some cases these do not cover some information which is pertinent to achieving the education related goals that include ECCE, primary education, skills development programmes among others. Adult literacy, gender mainstreaming in education and quality improvement initiatives are also important for the stakeholders. Consequently, a section of the education initiatives often unreported or under reported. To make-up this gap, in particular, to include the information related to educational programmes managed by NGOs, the existing database managed by CAMPE needs to be updated periodically. If this database could be integrated with the database of BNFE, a better picture of the second chance education will be available to the concerned stakeholders.

The Government of Bangladesh is also increasingly recognizing the contributions of NGO run education programmes that supplement to the state initiatives for achieving the goals of Education for All. Thus it is essential to have comprehensive information of the NGO run education initiative to get a better picture of the basic education sub-sector.

The information generated under this initiative is expected to be presented in different forums at the national, regional and global levels as and when required. CAMPE could provide assistance to the government in this regard by collecting statistical data and quantitative information regularly on NGOs and their programme interventions in the basic education sub-sector including the skills initiatives in Bangladesh.

Methodology

Diverse methods was followed to achieve the objectives of the updating the database and publishing the Directory of NGOs with Education Programme in Bangladesh. A survey method was followed in developing the Directory of NGOs with Education Programme in Bangladesh. In doing so a concept note was prepared outlining the objectives, methods, timeline, human and financial resource management and technical service requirement. An Advisory Committee was formed consisting of representatives from concerned institutions, academia, researchers and statisticians. A renowned statistician Professor Dr. Kazi Saleh Ahmed, former Vice Chancellor of Jahangirnagar University and Advisory Board member of the Education Watch Bangladesh has volunteered as Chairperson of the Advisory Committee of the initiative.

There were representatives from different initiations including Bangladesh Bureau of Educational Information & Statistics (BANBEIS), Bangladesh Institute of Development Studies (BIDS), BRAC, Bureau of Non-Formal Education (BNFE), Dhaka Ahsania Mission, Institute of Education and Research (IER) of University of Dhaka , Save the Children in Bangladesh, United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) Dhaka office, United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) Bangladesh and concerned senior officials of CAMPE (as list of advisory committee members have been provided at the beginning of the report as Contributors). Under the guidance of the Advisory Committee, RMED unit of CAMPE has carried out the entire exercise.

Key requirements of the directory was identified through a consultative process involving stakeholders that include existing and potential users including NGOs, academia/researchers, development partners and concerned government officials. The instrument and the database contains statistical data and qualitative information of responding organisation that included (i) profile of the organization, (ii) organizations total budget and share of education programme budget, (iii) information on education programme interventions including skills development and TVET, (iv) geographical coverage, (v) information on gender, ethnicity, disability and other forms of exclusions in education, (vi) information on curriculum and materials, (vii) information on training programmes, (viii) coordination among service providers and concerned government institutions, (ix) monitoring and evaluation, and (x) advocacy initiatives for the education sector among others.

To have a comprehensive list, the existing databases was reviewed and collected list of NGOs from concerned institutions and platforms including ActionAid, ADAB, BEN, BNFE, BRAC, FNB, Save the Children in Bangladesh among others. A public call was also published in widely circulated national dailies, CAMPE website and other potential platforms for ensuring maximum response. The list was organized based on the location (division, district and sub-district) of the head office of the concerned organization. A snowballing process was followed to identify mission organizations, if any while collecting data from organizations at the sub-national level. The list was updated and the coverage was ensured by revising the data collection plan.

A printed survey instrument along with administration guideline was used for data collection. An online database and data entry interface combination of HTML, PhP, and Java was developed prior to the data collection phase. However, in back end there was a MySQL database that stored and processed the data and generate reports.

There were a total of 24 Associates and 8 supervisors engaged in data collection from 936 NGOs across the country. Besides this 12 CAMPE officials and 34 youth volunteers and Interns from the institute of Education and Research was engaged in different phases including data collection, editing, cleaning, management, processing and analysis phase. Before the field level data collection a capacity building workshop was organized for the associates and supervisors.

Immediate after the capacity building workshop, the survey instrument was piloted in Manikganj district on 24 March 2014. Based on the results of piloting, the instrument was finalized, database was updated and the online data entry interface was restructured. The actual data collection was carried out during the period 21 April 2014 to 15 June 2015. However, some of the organisation have provided data even in 2016.

Data have been collected from the direct service providers and initiative have been taken to avoid double counting. The head office of each NGO has bed considered as the unit for data collection point. Paper based survey instrument was used for such data collection.

This is first time, CAMPE has collected data using online database form the NGOs from 8 selected districts, one division each. As it was a new initiative, paper based survey was also carried out as back-up support. The survey instruments were sent to professional data entry firms and some youth volunteers were engaged in data editing and cleaning.

In view of enhancing reliability and credibility, field level verification was carried out for randomly selected 5% of the total respondents. Mid-level staff of CAMPE has carried out such verification. There were 18 data validation Workshops organized during 12 July to 31 August 2015 covering all responding organisations. Although data was collected from the head office but during the validation, emphasis was given on locations of field operation, i.e. the concerned districts where the programme was actually implemented. In formulating the cluster of districts, geographical location, administrative division, inter-district communication and number of NGOs working in the selected districts was considered.

Some prototype output tables was prepared to respond the frequently asked questions directly form the database designed using the MySQL. Further analysis have been carried out by transferring the data to MS Excel. The final output has been printed and disseminated as a Directory of NGOs with Education programme in Bangladesh. Some of the outputs, as mentioned above, are online accessible at www.directory.campebd.org. However, a user can develop cross tables for selected issues form the online directory and also search different issue to fulfil their need.

Each of the responding organizations can update or edit their data as and when required. The changes will be visible at the responding organization end immediately. However, for public consumption it needs validation by super admin located at CAMPE. There are also inbuilt system to alert organisations to update the data whenever a project ends or programme completed so that organization can keep their data up to date. For smooth operation of the database, there were 18 cluster level orientation session on online data management align with the distribution of data validation workshop plan.

The analysis was done internally by CAMPE under the leadership of RMED unit which was reviewed by the chairperson of the Advisory Committee. Based on the advice, revised outputs were generated and report was written. The Executive Director of CAMPE and the Chairpersons of the Advisory Committee have edited the final report.

As part of dissemination plan 1,000 copies of the directory was printed and disseminated among the stakeholders including member and partner NGOs of CAMPE, development partners, concerned government agencies including BNFE, DPE, MoPME, NSDC, Directorate of Technical Education, Technical education board, BBS, BANBEIS, and other civil society organization. Online information is easily accessible to wider audience. The publication is also targeted to provide information for context analysis, input for further research and advocacy along with insights for attribution to the NGOs contribution in GDP. A summary of the methodology is provided in Table 2 below:

Limitations

Major limitation of the study included the followings:

- Despite several effort, all NGOs working in education sector could not be covered. Consequently, the actual coverage of education programme was more than that have been captured through this report;
- In clustering the education programmes, definition of different programme used by individual organization, sometimes had conflict with UNESCO adopted terminology. Effort was made to minimize those challenges as much as possible;
- Major challenges was to satisfy respondents, particularly related to direct field implementation and service provided through partner organization. To avoid double counting only direct implementation have been reported in this study. Any indirect effort or partial capacity building instead of direct service delivery have been excluded. Consequently, all education related interventions some organization could not be visualized in the template;
- Some of the information could not be summarized because significant number of respondents could not provide data according to the classification, for example, grade wise learner for primary education (due to mixture of formal and non-formal);
- During the reporting period it was observed that comparing with the population of particular location could be useful, but due to lack of comparable data such comparison could not be provided;
- It was difficult to identify the types of disability including vision, movement, thinking, remembering, learning, communicating, hearing, mental health and social relationships. In addition, advanced technical knowledge is required for identifying dimensions like impairment, activity limitation, and participation restrictions. However, due to lack of technical expertise CAPME depends on the identification by service providers;
- Some NGOs, both small and large, could not provide information related to budget allocation due to 'technical difficulties', consequently, it was difficult to provide any summary of investment in education by NGOs or compare the weight of education programme with other development interventions of the same organization.

Major Findings

Growth and shrink of the sub-sector with diverse legal status

The total NGOs were 1,321 in 2009 and 936 in 2014. However, the data shows that there has been steady growthin establishing new NGOs until 1999,that followed by sharp decrease in subsequent periods. Out of 936 NGOs listed in this directory, only 14 NGOs (1.50%) were established before the independence of Bangladesh i.e. 1971. The highest number of NGOs, 332 (35.47%) were established during 1995 - 1999. Another 227 (24.25%) NGOs were established in 2000 - 2014. Only 11 NGOs (1.18%) established in period of 2010 to 2014 as shown in Table 3. A summary table have been attached to this report in Annex 1.

Registration Authority and Legal Framework

The NGOs are operating under diverse legal framework. There are at least 14 acts or ordinance for registration and regulations of NGOs in Bangladesh with diverse options. Some of the laws relating to registration and others are for regulation. The laws for registration created opportunity for incorporation of an NGO as a legal entity and created space or facilitate the ability to sue and be sued. On the other hand, the laws for regulation are measures for regulating the workings and relationship with government as listed in Table 4 below:

Table 4: Laws relating to Registration and Regulation of NGOs

Laws for registration	Laws for regulations
• Societies Registration Act 1860 • Trusts Act 1882 • Charitable Endowments Act 1890 • Charitable and Religious Trust Act 1920 • Wakf Ordinance 1962 • Cooperative Societies Ordinance 1964 • Hindu Religious Welfare Trust Ordinance 1983 • Christian Religious Welfare Trust Ordinance 1983 • Buddhist Religious Welfare Trust Ordinance 1983 • Companies Act 1994	• Voluntary Social Welfare Agencies (Regulation and Control) Ordinance 1961 • The Foreign Donations (Voluntary Activities) Regulation Ordinance, 1978 (amended in 1982, and 1990) • The Foreign Contributions (Regulation) Ordinance 1982 • Income Tax Ordinances

In addition, there are number of government agencies who are engaged in the overall process of registration and regulation that included Ministry of Social Welfare, Register of Joint Stock Companies, NGO Affairs Bureau, Ministry of Commerce, Ministry of Women and Children Affairs and Ministry of Youth and Sports. The registration authorities included Directorate of Social Welfare, NGO Affairs Bureau, Directorate of Youth Development, Directorate of Women Affairs, Directorate of Family Planning, and Registrar of Joint Stock Company among others. There significant level of engagement with the Ministry of Home Affairs, a line ministries for implementing programmes and approval from local government in the registration process and subsequent reporting and compliance issues.

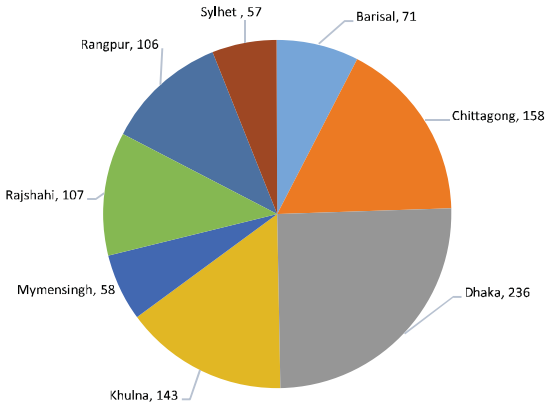

The legislative framework relating to internal governance of NGOs covered ranges of compliance issues. Accounting, disclosure, and transparency are three fundamental compliance issue irrespective of the authority of registration.There are diversity in accountability mechanism, for example, (i) the Societies Registration Act requires for an annual meeting but does not require the submission of annual accounts or audits, (ii) the Companies Act requires extensive bookkeeping, audit, and report-filing, while (iii) the Trust Act requires clear accounts to be maintained, but there are no requirements for external audit, among others. However, the NGOAB compliance require double-entry system in accounting and 35 internal control questionnaire which is extensive.

The study shows that majority of the NGOs were registered with the Ministry of Social Welfare (88.15%), that followed by NGO Affairs Bureau (50.27%) and the Directorate of Youth Development (43.44%). 19.21% of the NGOs were registered with the Ministry of Women & Children Affairs, 18.46% of the NGOs were registered to the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies, 8.43% of the NGOs were registered with the Directorate of Family Planning and 25.40% NGOs were registered with other different authorities. A summary have been annexed to this report (Annex 2).

Location of Head Office

According to the location of the head office, highest number of NGOs had their head office in Dhaka division (236 NGOs, 25.21%) that followed by Chittagong division (158 NGOs, 16.88%). The lowest number of NGOs head office were located in Sylhet division (57 NGOs, 6.09%). The division wise distribution of NGOs by location of head office have been shown in Figure 2.

Analysis shows that, some districts had more NGOs than others. In terms of location of head office, highest number of NGOs were located in Dhaka district (127 NGOs) that followed by Chittagong (46), Satkhira (38) and Khulna (33). However, there are many districts where only few NGOs head office were located, for example, there were only 1 NGO had head officein Munshiganj district. For further information please see the Annex 3.

Involvement with Networks and Forums

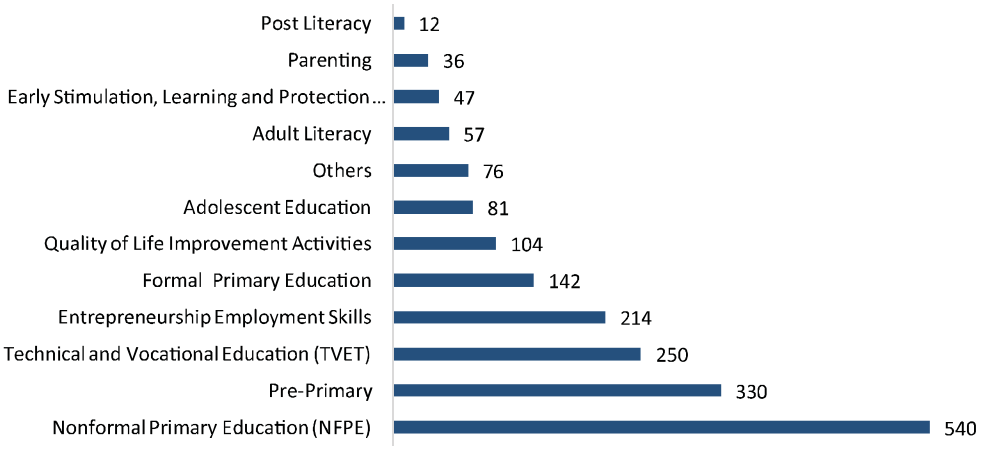

The NGOs providing education services were involved with various networks and forums. These include local, national, regional and international. This database represents NGOs who have kind of formal or informal affiliation with CAMPE of which approximately 37.57% had membership status with voting rights. However, many of them are affiliated with different other platforms and networks. More than half of the NGOs were affiliated with ADAB (55.28%), followed by NGO Forum (50.37%). 41.41% of the NGOs were affiliated with the Federation of NGOs in Bangladesh (FNB), 38.53% with NGOs with the Credit Development Forum (CDF), and about 29.03% NGOs had linkage with SUPRO among others. Only few NGOs working in the education sector had linkage with different regional and international forums and platforms including Global Campaign for Education (GCE), Asian South Pacific Bureau of Adult Education (ASPBAE), World Social Forum (WSF) and GCAP among others. For further details please see the Annex 4.

Types of Education Programme

The NGOs were providing various types of education programmes. Three major categoriesof such types were (i) Early Childhood Care and Education (ECCE), (ii) Basic Education both formal and non-formal, (iii) Lifelong learning.

The ECCE programmes consists of parenting, early stimulation, learning & protection activities and Pre-Primary programmes. Likewise, Basic Education consist of Primary Education (both formal and non-formal), Adolescent Education, and Adult Literacy programmes. Similarly, the Lifelong learning included Post Literacy and continuing education, technical and vocational education and training, entrepreneurship employment generation, skills development among others.

Notably, most of the NGOs worked in limited areas based on their capability, areas of expertise, local needs and resource availability. Among broad categories highest number of NGOs (72.78%) were involved in basic education programme, particularly non-formal primary education (57.63%) that followed by ECCE programmes (35.22%) and the lowest number of NGOs were involved in lifelong learning (22.84%) programmes. Number of NGOs involved in various types of education programmes have been shown in Figure 3 and Table 5.

Learning Centres and Learners

The NGOs together operated 79,573 learning centres to reach about 3 million learners of differ age groups. Of these 25,154 centres were providing ECCE programmes to 695,688 learners (60.59% girls), 41,643 centres were providing basic education to 1,818,121 learners (57.85 girls), and 79,573 centres were providing Lifelong learning and Continuing Education programmes including TVET to 2,916,222 learners (60.71% girls and women). Location of the learning centres

According to the ecological setting, the highest numbers of Centres were located in plain land mostly in rural areas (41,222 Centres) that followed by urban slums (8,094 Centres) and coastal belt (7,013 Centres). However, the lowest number of centres were found in Pleistocene terrace which is popularly known as Garh Area (288 Centres). Similar trends was also observed in terms of learner's coverage. Table 10 shows the distribution of the centres in those areas along with the number of students.
